

When Bob Dole was running for president and he was in the US Senate, during his campaigning he could not but help mention the frightening bill that was winding its way through Congress as a dangerous act for our democracy that would put the media too easily in the hands of a very few to wield without public oversight, and it's gotten worse since then. Stop the disgrace, if people want to view the movie, let them pay like they do for Fahrenheit 911. Thank you for your public service.
